

"WORKERS FIGHTING
EACH OTHER WILL SOLVE NOTHING"

Don't let the Far Right take you in

People seeking to build a new life in Britain are being targeted by those who want to divide us. They do the work of the capitalists who destroy the quality of life of those of us who already live here, breaking up our communities. We face many similar problems.

The racist rhetoric of Government, its inhumane treatment of refugees and the ongoing cuts in public services has given rise to violent demonstrations in communities across Britain, seized on by manipulative far-right organisations. These use rumour to spread lies and prey on the frustration and fears of the most poverty-stricken working class communities.

Millions of people are displaced due to war, poverty, persecution and natural catastrophes. This is not of their own making.

Some who are displaced end up in Britain, may be people-trafficked, or travel by unsafe routes, putting their lives at risk. This is a sign of their desperation to escape and survive.

The Government could provide safe and legal routes, but choose not to. It's the Government that has failed and has failed in so many things.

The dispersal programme has seen people taken to hotels because they refuse to fund better, safer options.

They have cut hospital beds, doctors and dental places. Schools are underfunded. Transport prices rise. The only local jobs around have low pay and no rights. Universal Credit is cut along with other vital benefits.

Our anger should be aimed at the Government.

The communist party calls for unity of the working class. We condemn those who seek to whip up hatred. We have to drive-out these divisive and destructive right-wing groups from our communities.

We face common problems. Turning on each other will achieve nothing.

We say Never Again to fascism.

@CPBritain

